“Just When We Need to be Inspired”

Since leaving NDSCS 40 years ago, John Jenson feels like he has seen a lot. A significant part of his work has been assisting professionals in presenting themselves to the world. He has authored several books and produced extensive content related to this endeavor. However, at the core of it all, he has consistently maintained notes on the elusive concept of inspiration. Join us for an opportunity to reflect and gain insight into this invaluable gift we all can share.
